

The New Jim Crow

In 1971, President Nixon declared a war on drugs: “America’s public enemy number one in the United States is drug abuse.” Nixon pushed “tough on crime” policies, and the prison population began to rise. In the early 1980s, President Reagan pushed the war on drugs with zero tolerance policies. The prison population grew rapidly from 200,000 in 1971 to over 2.2 million in 2013 – with another 4.7 million on probation or parole. U.S Bureau of Justice statistics; www.drugpolicy.org/

Racial-biased law enforcement and arrests result in more poor people and minorities in the prison system. “African Americans make up 13.6 percent of the U.S. population, according to census data, but black men make up 40.2 percent of all prison inmates... Right now, we have more African-Americans behind bars or under watch of the criminal justice system than there were enslaved in 1850.” ~ Michelle Alexander, The New Jim Crow, 2011

In America in 2010, we had 5.85 million Americans who have lost their voting rights because of previous convictions.” ~ U.S. Senator Cory Booker, D-NJ, CNS News interview, 8/10/15

In the early 1980s, the Corrections Corporation of America pioneered the idea of running prisons for a profit. “You just sell it like you were selling cars, or real estate, or hamburgers,” one founder said. Today, corporate-run prisons hold 8 percent of America’s inmates. ~ Madison Pauly, Mother Jones, 2016

“With only 5% of the world’s population, the U.S. has more than 20% of the world’s prison population – that makes us the world’s largest jailer. From 1978 to 2014, our prison population has risen 408%.” ~ American Civil Liberties Union, The Prison Crisis, 2017

The New Jim Crow

In 1971, President Nixon declared a war on drugs: “America’s public enemy number one in the United States is drug abuse.” Nixon pushed “tough on crime” policies, and the prison population began to rise. In the early 1980s, President Reagan pushed the war on drugs with zero tolerance policies. The prison population grew rapidly from 200,000 in 1971 to over 2.2 million in 2013 – with another 4.7 million on probation or parole. U.S Bureau of Justice statistics; www.drugpolicy.org/

Racial-biased law enforcement and arrests result in more poor people and minorities in the prison system. “African Americans make up 13.6 percent of the U.S. population, according to census data, but black men make up 40.2 percent of all prison inmates... Right now, we have more African-Americans behind bars or under watch of the criminal justice system than there were enslaved in 1850.” ~ Michelle Alexander, The New Jim Crow, 2011

In America in 2010, we had 5.85 million Americans who have lost their voting rights because of previous convictions.” ~ U.S. Senator Cory Booker, D-NJ, CNS News interview, 8/10/15

In the early 1980s, the Corrections Corporation of America pioneered the idea of running prisons for a profit. “You just sell it like you were selling cars, or real estate, or hamburgers,” one founder said. Today, corporate-run prisons hold 8 percent of America’s inmates. ~ Madison Pauly, Mother Jones, 2016

“With only 5% of the world’s population, the U.S. has more than 20% of the world’s prison population – that makes us the world’s largest jailer. From 1978 to 2014, our prison population has risen 408%.” ~ American Civil Liberties Union, The Prison Crisis, 2017

